Your Japanese handwriting journey

Read, trace, write and review a little every day.

THE FOUR-STEP METHOD

01

SEE

Study the character shape and word meaning.

02

TRACE

Follow the pale print models slowly.

03

WRITE

Copy using accurate square guides.

04

RECALL

Cover the examples and write from memory.

Recommended daily pace

Practice 20-30 minutes, take breaks, and review previous characters after 1 day and 1 week.

- [ ] I have printed A4 at actual size (100%).
- [ ] I have a pencil and a sheet to cover the answers.

ACCURACY NOTE

What this book covers

Beginner handwriting that also builds reading and vocabulary.

What N5 assesses

The JLPT tests vocabulary, grammar, reading and listening. It does not directly test handwriting.

What this book teaches

Correct kana shapes, common beginner kanji, practical vocabulary and simple Japanese writing.

Important limitation

There is no current official exhaustive JLPT N5 kanji or vocabulary list. These 80 kanji are a curated beginner-support set.

Stroke-order guidance

For detailed handwritten kana reference, consult the Japan Foundation Irodori kana guide. Stroke-order numbers are not invented here.

Other practice you still need

Combine the workbook with listening, speaking and grammar study for stronger overall Japanese skills.

PRACTICE SETUP

Write with comfortable hands

Square guides help with accurate character size and balance.

WRITING SQUARE

あ

ア

山

Vertical and horizontal guides show each character's center.

WHAT TO CHECK

- [ ] Leave breathing room around strokes.
- [ ] Keep the overall shape centered.
- [ ] Copy the balance, not only the size.
- [ ] Relax your wrist and use light pressure.

QUICK REFERENCE
